IDTag.com is a web-based pet-identification service that helps reunite owners with lost pets. Each IDTag.com pet tag is engraved with a unique identification number, enabling the pet owner to create and maintain an online profile that contains photos, videos, health records and emergency contact information about their dogs or cats. With one click of the mouse or a call to the emergency support line, an instant lost-pet alert is sent to any shelter, veterinarian or rescue group within 50 miles of the pet's last known location, according to the manufacturer. Anyone who recovers the pet can call the toll-free number on the tag or log on to www.idtag.com.
